MARCH

We are always excited about the first signs of spring.

The crocus and daffodils popping up, the song of the early robins, the yellow flowers coming out along the long drooping branches of the forsythia, the funny little pussy willows.

I have already experienced the daffodils and the robins. It took awhile to see the daffodils because of the snow, which has just melted, and they are only starting to come up. And I heard the robins before I saw them. They have their own distinctive song. I also noticed that a lot of Canadian geese have been flying north.

Chris said she was happy to see the rain yesterday, because it wasn't snow.

We look forward to everything awakening and greening up again.

The Creator's Fingerprints

Doug Haas Nature Photography

Nature is so incredibly diverse, interweaving soft textures with rough elements, adding a splash of color amid dull backgrounds, bold designs among camouflage and secrecy. The variety of shapes and patterns seem limitless. And it all coexists and fits together seamlessly. Often inspiring, mysterious beyond rational explanation, we look to nature to understand our place in the universe, to realize we are part of an incredible, intelligent design.

But much of this beauty goes unseen and unappreciated. My wife Chris and I are always looking for those special images which most people just walk past. It is not necessary to visit exotic far off places. Many stunning images are right in our backyard. We especially marvel over the tiny or insignificant; fungi, centipedes, or fallen autumn leaves. Using our macro lens, close up photos of the ordinary shows detail that is dramatic or vibrant. Then looking across the large panoramic overlooks we drink in the immensity of our surroundings. And we are always looking for the unusual, odd and often fantastic images. We love to be artistically moody or abstract, offering prints which are beautiful and interesting.

Prints from Doug Haas Nature Photography will always be eye catching hanging on your wall, in your house or office. We try to capture beauty, things unusual or interesting; hopefully all three. They also make great gifts which show the recipient that you care and you have great taste. Gift certificates are available. The prints are professionally printed on archival paper with non-fading inks, and should last a lifetime. Total satisfaction or your money back.

Images can be viewed and prints ordered on-line at <http://www.TheCreatorsFingerprints.com> . E-mail us at doug@TheCreatorsFingerprints.com , and be specific in the title, I am brutal with spam.
